

Crossroads Continuum Day School

School-Based Educational and Related Services for Students ages 3-22 with autism and related disorders.

Our students come from a variety of surrounding communities. They range in learning profiles from those working on introductory level skills and using augmentative communication strategies to many that access close to grade-level academics. Because every student is different, our programs are individualized to meet each student's needs. All programming is based on the principles of Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA).
